What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous colitis), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in affecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

HAY FEVER

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

The climax of the Jamestown Exposition, the last week of the great show on Hampton Roads, Flower Week, is to be crowded as full of interesting happenings as the ingenuity of those having the arrangements in preparation can make it. Already the plans are taking shape for the gala week, a week of festival, carnival and mad gaiety.

Chrysanthemums, millions of them, are to be everywhere in evidence throughout the week of November 25 to 30. There is to be a great floral show all through the week, and all the prominent horticulturists and amateur flower growers of Maryland, North Carolina and Virginia, and many from far away, will be exhibitors.

Army and Navy Day will be Monday, November 25. The special event of this day is to be a grand review of the naval and military forces at the Jamestown Exposition. There will be a monster parade. This will be the final army and navy review. The Secretary of the Navy, Charles J. Bonaparte, and the Secretary of War, William H. Taft, are expected to participate, and make addresses at literary exercises to be held in the Auditorium.

November 27 is Raleigh Day. Governor Glenn, a consistent friend of the exposition, will be the orator of the day. Mayor Johnson, of Raleigh, and S. E. Smith, representing the Chamber of Commerce, a prominent lawyer of the North Carolina capital, will also make addresses upon this occasion. A gigantic outpouring from North Carolina is assured.

Chrysanthemum Day will be November 29. As the special feature of the day there is to be a parade of automobiles, carriages and other vehicles, all chrysanthemum decorated. Prizes will be offered.

The last day, the day of days, November 30, is to be Tucker-Martin day, dedicated to the president and director-general of the exposition. There is to be a great tournament on Lee Parade in which knights from Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia and even far off West Virginia will compete.

The final ball will be given in Convention Hall. The building will be decorated with chrysanthemums and every lady attending will be given a chrysanthemum as a souvenir of the last dance.

In the auditorium, beginning at 11 o'clock, exercises will be held which will close the exposition. President Tucker will review the history of the exposition from its conception to the moment. At 12 o'clock a lever will be turned which will put out all the lights of the Jamestown Exposition and set the seal of finality to its existence.

LINGERING COLD.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

CHIROPODIST CUTS HIS THROAT

Dr. Charles O. Kahler, a New York chiropodist, cut his throat with a razor yesterday in front of a mirror in his office on Fifth avenue, and then walked 50 feet into a rear room, where he fell dead. His son, George, told the police that his father had been worrying over debts recently and a few days ago said he would kill himself if not able to pay a note for $2,000 falling due yesterday.

While a handsomely gowned woman, who had come in a carriage, was waiting in the reception room, the doctor went into a private office adjoining, held a small foot pillow to one side of his neck and with the other hand drew the keen blade of a razor across his throat. Pushing the pillow in front of the wound, the man walked back through the hall 50 feet to a rear room, where he fell to the floor.

The woman in the reception room became tired of waiting and went to the street and drove away. A half hour later the dead body of the doctor was found by the elevator man. He left a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Kahler's grandfather made boots for President Lincoln. He displayed in the window of his office for years a diagram of President Lincoln's foot, made by his grandfather in the White House, together with an autograph letter of Lincoln's reading, "Let this man in to see me," and signed "A. Lincoln."

A tickling cough, from any cause, is quickly stopped by Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly harmless and safe, that Dr Shoop tells mothers everywhere to give it without hesitation even to very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung-healing mountainous shrub, furnish the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough, and heals the sore and sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Simply a resinous plant extract, that helps to heal aching lungs. The Spaniards call this shrub which the Doctor uses, "The Sacred Herb." Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.

SHE HAD THE NICKEL.

George Wadsworth appeared last Saturday before Justice John Marshall Smedes, in Cincinnati, descendant of the great Chief Justice Marshall, and in a whisper asked what would be the very lowest cost of getting married. "Two dollars," replied the magistrate. An hour later Wadsworth, Miss Annie Hunter, his bride-elect, and another man and woman called and Justice Smedes tied the knot. The bridegroom handed the magistrate a sealed envelope, but it contained only $1.50. "The statute says the fee shall be $2," explained Smedes. Wadsworth dug down into all his pockets. He could raise but 45 cents. "Say, Jim, got a nickel?" he asked the best man. Jim was forced to own he was strapped, but he was resourceful. He whispered to the maid of honor. "Excuse me for a minute, please, judge," she said. Taking the required money from her stocking she turned around and handed the squire 5 cents.

A Significant Prayer.

"May the Lord help you make Bucklen's Arnica Salve known to all," writes J. G. Jenkins, of Hapel Hill, N. C. It quickly took the pain out of a felon for me and cured it in a wonderfully short time." Best on earth for sores, burns and wounds. 25c at all drug stores.

ONE LANGUAGE IN COMMON.

Unable to speak the same language Arthur K. Keene and Louisa Minuidi were married at City Hall in New York last Saturday. The bridegroom is an American and cannot speak a word of Italian, while the bride is an Italian and cannot speak or understand a word of English. An aunt of the bride, through whom the courtship was carried on, acted as interpreter during the ceremony. The bride asked how she would talk with her husband, smilingly replied: "We shall communicate in the language of love."

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOV. 20, 1907.

MUCH concern is being shown among many employes of the Southern Railway Company who own houses in this city or who prefer to live in Alexandria. Recent changes it is feared will make it necessary for many conductors, engineers and others operating passenger trains to remove their residences from this city. All passenger engines are now housed at Trinidad, about two miles northeast of Washington. This place is the point at which they arrive and depart, and to make trips to Alexandria after housing engines and then return in time to take out locomotives would be impractical if not at times impossible for members of the crews. It is believed that before long Southern freight engines will also be sent to Trinidad. The shops of the company in this city have already been considerably depleted of workmen. Comparatively few are now employed at the Duke street depot, and conditions about that place stand in marked contrast to those of a few years ago when about four hundred mechanics were employed in the shops, together with twenty-six apprentices. The question might be asked, And what is to be done about it? The city of Alexandria is today struggling under a debt the greater part of which was contracted in aiding to construct certain parts of the Southern Railway—the Alexandria, Manassas and Bluemont divisions—and it seems hard that everything in connection with the system is gradually being diverted from this city. That and other roads are running around Alexandria, while the city is not placed on some railroad maps.

As anticipated Mr. Bascomb Slemp was yesterday nominated for Congress by the republicans of the Ninth district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, Col. Campbell Slemp. Since the latter's death there had been all kinds of speculations as to who would succeed him, but Mr. Bascomb Slemp, being the chairman of the State republican committee and having the machinery entirely in his hands, "laid low and said nothing," knowing and feeling fully well that in the convention the delegates who he would have named would see to his nomination—so yesterday his name was the only one presented at the Gate City convention and his nomination was unanimous. The republican affairs in the State now are entirely in the hands of Mr. Slemp and he does with them as he pleases. He wants the offices for his friends and distributes them according to his ideas, as to where they will do the most good—for the Slemps—and seems to want only enough republicans in the State to fill the offices.

THE CRAZE on the part of some people to engage in lynchings is spreading in all directions, and if the epidemic continues to grow lynchings may follow the commission of ordinary misdemeanors. A diminutive negro, named William Levy, was caught in the act of stealing cider from a man named Hicks, living on Long Island, last Sunday. The darkey was carried into the little house, where a conference was held to decide what to do with him. Some wanted to lynch him, and the others said let the law take its course. While they were arguing someone sent word to a deputy sheriff, who reached the house to find Levy on his knees pleading for life. One farmer had a rope ready. The negro was taken before a magistrate, who gave him ninety days on Blackwell's Island. The negro was hastened out of the county for fear of further trouble.

THE New York Court of Appeals, in a unanimous decision handed down yesterday, as stated in the Gazette of that day, declares unconstitutional the so-called recount bill, passed by the last legislature, under which there could have been a recount of the ballots cast in the McClellan-Hearst mayoralty election in New York city in 1905. The mayoralty recount bill was passed by the legislature last spring. It was one of the measures which Governor Hughes pressed upon the legislature. Mayor McClellan vetoed the bill when it was submitted to him for approval. The bill was passed over the mayor's veto, and its constitutionality was at once attacked in the courts. This settles the matter and even the remotest possibility of Mr. Hearst being declared mayor of New York has now vanished. Good!

Bank Reopened.

New York, Nov. 20.—The Twelfth Ward Bank reopened for business this morning at 9 o'clock. The institution closed when the New Amsterdam National Bank refused to clear for it any longer. The management remains the same except that Edward Wood has been elected first vice president and director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George B. Brown.

The British steamer Regulus from New Foundland which went aground 20 miles east of Fire Island light, arrived at New York today. She was pulled off by the wrecking tug I. S. Merserit at high tide. The deck-load of lumber from one of the holds was jettisoned. The steamer is not leaking.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Nov. 20.

President Roosevelt will spend Thanksgiving at President Madison's old home at Montpelier, Va. He will start in the morning and return before dark.

The police are investigating last night's railroad wreck at the mouth of the tunnel, and a report will probably be made this afternoon.

It is said that President Roosevelt condemns the practice of State delegations to the next national convention being pledged to him, and that he will depose any federal officeholder aiding such endorsement. Orders that effect will be issued shortly, it is said.

Five milk dealers arrested for selling milk not up to the standard, forfeited their collateral in the police court here today.

If the republicans of France are offended because Henry White, the American ambassador to that country representing a republic at a republican court, attended the wedding of the sister of the Duke of Orleans, the head of the house of the pretender to the throne of France, they have not yet communicated that feeling in any way to this government. It is not expected that they will, notwithstanding dispatches from Paris, which represented some boulevardiers as getting excited on the subject. Even if they do the State Department will take no notice, because it does not hold itself a censor of the social relations of its representatives abroad, and has no interest whether they attend or do not attend weddings or other social functions of prominent personages.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

The American Federation of Labor in session in Norfolk yesterday rejected an amendment to its laws proposing that in the future no jurisdictional dispute between two or more national or international unions shall be considered by the federation or by the executive council between sessions unless all parties in interest, by convention, referendum or in some other proper way agree before the question is taken up to be bound by the decision given.

The federation adopted caustic resolutions against the American and Continental tobacco companies and calling for the boycott of drug stores all over the country having certain kinds of cigar-stands which were ordered on the "We-don't-patronize list." The executive council was given authority to remove from the "We-don't-patronize list" the names of concerns and goods thereon where international unions that asked this are not found to be properly pushing the boycotts.

The treasurer was directed to deposit on interest-bearing certificates all American Federation of Labor funds over $11,000.

In receiving the report of its boycott committee the convention referred many resolutions calling for publication on the "We-don't-patronize list" of the products of concerns in various cities to its executive council to be handled, "in accordance with law."

The convention ratified the appointment of two special committees to confer with the farmers of the country represented by the affiliated American Society of Equity and bring about a better understanding, with the view to having the farmers fully co-operate with the trades unions by refusing to buy boycotted farm supply goods.

The federation rejected a resolution providing for a committee to recommend to the 1908 convention ways and means for the establishment of a national sanitarium to be owned and operated by the federation, particularly for the treatment of consumptives.

A resolution was introduced providing that the executive council prepare a document setting forth reasons for the inauguration of a united political movement by the working people of the country, this document to be sent to all affiliated bodies and other bona-fide organizations, and the general result to be reported to the 1908 convention. This came up as a substitute for a resolution offered by Victor L. Berger, of Milwaukee, the socialistic leader, with something of the same political significance, though ruled out of order by President Gompers.

THE METHODISTS.

The Virginia Southern Methodist Conference in Petersburg yesterday adopted a resolution, in regard to Dr. James Cannon's resolution protesting against the removal of the motto "In God We Trust" from United States coins suggested by President Roosevelt. The resolution was as follows:

Whereas the motto, "In God We Trust," has been removed from the new 10-dollar gold piece by order of President Roosevelt, and in answer to remonstrances President Roosevelt states that there is no provision of law to keep the motto on the coin or to take it off, but refers those opposed to its removal to Congress to decide the matter; therefore.

Resolved that, with every respect and esteem for the President, we are compelled to say that we regret the removal of the motto, and following the line of his suggestion we request Congress to take the proper steps to have the motto replaced and kept on all our coins which now bear it.

The conference voted not to make a special appropriation for the support of the superannuated preachers, but left the matter to stand as ordered by the General Conference.

The statistical secretary of the conference read the following interesting statistics: Local preachers, 92; members, 101,807; infants baptized, 915; adults baptized, 3,678; Epworth Leagues, 100; Epworth League members, 4,195; number of Sunday schools, 780; officers and teachers, 8,665; scholars enrolled during year, 68,201; paid presiding elders, $20,270.22; paid preachers, $222,634.11; number of societies, 797; houses of worship, 793; value of houses of worship, $2,593,000; insurance on same, $136,698; number of pastoral charges, 247; parsonages, 131; number of presiding elder districts, 11; district parsonages, 3.

The total value of the grounds and buildings belonging to these institutions is $783,334.36, with a total endowment of $406,965.46.

MRS. BRADLEY ON THE STAND.

When the Gazette's report of the Bradley trial in Washington closed yesterday, Mrs. Bradley was still on the stand. She said that her health had gradually failed during her relations with Brown, and that by 1906 she had grown to be very wretched. She was to have been married on June 2 of 1906, but the Senator was ill then, and she only talked with him over the telephone.

Continuing, Mrs. Bradley said that when Brown told her he would not marry her he had said his children would not speak to him again; but after he had told her this he had called her on the telephone as soon as she got home to tell her that he had not meant what he had said. He told her that his friends were trying to dissuade him from marrying her, and he suggested that they should get away from them.

Mrs. Bradley told of an interview with Brown upon his return from the East in August, 1906. "I simply broke down and begged him to marry me," she said. "I told him I could never face the little children when they grew up, and I felt as if the future was very dark." As late as October 25, 1906, when she had told him that she was about to become a mother, he had assured her that all would be made right. He promised her then to marry her, she continued, and to remove with her to Goldfield, Nev., to live.

Again on November 13 the subject was gone over, but the Senator then seem inclined to postpone the marriage but she was very hopeful. Court then adjourned until today. When court adjourned Mrs. Bradley had almost completed her recital of her relations with the former Senator. She had not reached the events which occurred in Washington, but had approached them, and they will constitute the principal part of her testimony tomorrow. While Mrs. Bradley has been giving her testimony, two alienists sitting behind District Attorney Baker and his aids have been scrutinizing her closely, taking frequent notes. These men, will bring all their experience to bear to break down the effect of the harrowing recital.

Washington, Nov. 20.—As early as six o'clock in the morning, there began to arrive a shrivering, breakfastless crowd of curiosity-mad women, to secure seats to hear the closing chapters of Mrs. Bradley's story.

In the space set aside for the public, and thrown open half hour before the court convened, at 10 o'clock, there was not a score of men. The women, chattering like magpies, were cautioned by the officers to keep silence.

Mrs. Bradley look very weary, but was composed, as she took her seat beside her attorneys.

When she resumed the stand, the letters written by Brown to her, and confirming the protestations of his affection, to which she testified yesterday, were identified by her, and offered in evidence. These will be read later. Each time she was called upon to state in whose handwriting the letters were she faltered, saying "Senator Brown's.

Following is a sample of the letters, illustrating the character of all: "Beloved: I love you in the truest, best sense a man can love a woman; not alone for the passion that is warm between us, but in a higher and truer way. I love to be with you, to hear you to be close to you. This morning when I got up I kept wishing I could have heard you sing some sweet song last night, that its music might ring in my ears till I saw you again. Good bye, dear, good bye for a brief period. I will write every mail. My life, my hope, my all is bound up in you and you only. Be good to me. Love me as I do you. As ever,

Your own, ARTHUR

In another of the letters, Senator Brown referring to the possible marriage, said: "I am today more determined than ever that we shall be before the world all that we are to each other."

Most of the letters were addressed to "Mrs. Dolly Madison Brown."

One letter, specifically acknowledged little Arthur as "our child." It read in part: "My own dear wife: Never so near or so dear. I am all yours today, 'cast thy bread upon the waters, and it shall return to you after many days'. Your message came this morning waiting the love of my darling from the Pacific, as a Chinook wafts its balm over the land. Take good care of our little Arthur Brown. He is your special care. Teach him, have him learn his letters. Keep at him until he has the wit and brilliancy of his mother. He is your charge. You remember the quotation: Your blood with mine commingled yet shall mount the throne of king's'".

While the identification of the hundred or more letters and messages was in progress, Dr. Brush, of Baltimore, of the government's insanity experts, drew an anatomical outline diagram of Mrs. Bradley's head.

Dr. Samuel Ely Jelliffe, of New York, an expert in the Thaw trial, examined a number of the letters.

The last document submitted was a fragment of telegram, in which the word "Illumne" appeared. Mrs. Bradley said it meant "I love you." This was a part of the code by which the couple communicated with each other.

Taking up the narrative, Judge Powers asked: "Did you go to live at Senator Brown's house?"

"Not exactly that," she replied. She told, however, of visits some of which lasted several days.

"I stayed at Senator Brown's house for five day, beginning November 19, 1906," she said, and then explained how she came to live under his roof. "He called on me in the afternoon at the hotel. That night I went to his house. It was brilliantly lighted I looked in the window. He was dining. I rang the door bell. The Senator opened it to me.' What are you doing here?' he asked.' Returning your visit of the afternoon' I replied. You cannot stay' he declared. I walked into the parlor and he raved and stormed. "I want to know if you intend to marry me. I asked. 'I don't know' he replied, and then explained: 'Go away. I will let you know.' I told him I would not leave until he told me what he intended to do. Mrs. Bradley said she remained at the Brown home five days, having their two children she had borne the Senator, with her. She left only when the Senator charged that she was trying to steal his house.

Telling of seeing Brown at his office, she said: "At last I said I was going away. I told him he had deceived me, his wife, and his mother had deceived everybody. I did not know what to think or what to do." "He said: "All right, Archie will bring you a ticket." As I went out he came into the office hall way with me, and putting his arms around me, said: "Dolly you are my own love, and I will see you soon."

Later Brown objected to her going away, as she repeated her determination. Finally he agreed, but with the remark that it will only be temporary. She said in the latter part of November the Senator had told her he was going to Washington?" and in October she knew she was likely to become a mother. "Did you become a mother?" "No." "When did you become sick?" "December 1st, 1906 in the night."

She said she lost much strength and found herself in a pitiful condition. After the incident mentioned by a government witness, of her calling at Brown's house, she said; "I went to the house where I met the watchman. He told me I could not come in but I walked by him and rang the bell. I was told I could not see Senator Brown." "Did you talk with the watchman?" "No sir." This was a denial of the watchman's story. She said she learned on December 1st that the Senator had left for Washington, that Livingston gave her a ticket to Los Angeles, and $80 in money. She wanted to go to Goldfield, but Brown secured a promise from her that she would not. "At the last moment" she explained with great pathos, "I thought if I went to Washington to plead with him, he might do something for me."

She said she left Salt Lake December 5, explaining that her sickness had compelled her to keep her bed on December 1 and 2. Of her condition she said "it was simply will power that kept me up."

Leaving Salt Lake, she went to Ogden. It was then her purpose to go on to Los Angeles. "Do you know where you were, when you changed your purpose?" "I suppose the impulse seized me to go to Washington when I neared Ogden. That was the changing point." She left Ogden in the afternoon of Wednesday for the national capital.

"On the train coming to Washington, what was your condition?" "I was very ill. The porter brought me some brandy." "What was the condition as to your head?" "I had a headache, and I was so tired it seemed that I could not keep up longer."

At 12:30 o'clock, recess was taken.

At the afternoon session was related the story of the killing of Senator Brown in the Raleigh Hotel. Mrs. Bradley told of reaching Washington on the morning of December, and of registering at the Raleigh, after ascertaining that Senator Brown was stopping there; at that time she did not intend to do violence to Senator Brown. She did not know when she was assigned to a room that it was but two doors from Brown's. Entering the Senator's room, she found a maid, who told her that Brown would be back soon. She thereupon prepared to wait for him.

A letter lying open on the dresser attracted her attention. She read it, and it caused her great anguish, she said. She then left the hotel, and walked the streets distracted. She ate no lunch, and returned to the hotel in the afternoon.

A pause of several minutes was necessary before she could resume.

The letter, the one Mrs. Bradley read in Brown's room, was then presented to her for identification. "Yes I guess that's the one; I don't know." The letter was not read to the court. It was one written to the Senator by Mrs. Annie Adams. Mrs. Bradley continuing said she went to her room, and threw herself on the bed. She heard some one walking in the hall. She discovered that it was Senator Brown, and she went for a second time to his room.

"He said 'What are you doing here?' I said 'I came to see you. Why don't you carry out your promise to me?'" "He then rushed at me." "Did he say anything when he rushed to you?" "I don't know, I don't know what he said." "What did you next do?"

"I didnt know anything until I heard a shot. That seemed to arouse me." "What did he do?" "He called for help." "When the shot was fired, was he close to you?" "He had hold of me." "Had you ever fired a gun before that day?" "Never in my life."

FIRE IN HOTEL.

Fire of incendiary origin threatened to destroy the Hotel Warwick at Newport News early yesterday morning, and caused the hundred or more guests at the hotel to flee for their lives. The fire was discovered by A. L. Powell, who lives on the third floor of the hotel, and who was awakened by dense volumes of smoke that poured into his room. Springing out of bed, he ran through the hotel, screaming Fire!" and awakening the guests,

Every hall and passage way was filled with smoke, and most of the guests, including a number of women, were forced to make their escape by way of the fire-escape. Lieutenant Commander Mallison, U. S. N., who was asleep directly over the flames, escaped down a rope, which he bought two days ago to use in case of fire. Gen. John Kline, U. S. A., retired, was overcome by smoke and was saved by Clerk Bricker, of the hotel.

The ladies were cared for by persons who quickly gathered on the scene. The firemen soon got the fire under control, and at daybreak the flames were extinguished. The loss will amount to $10,000.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Nov. 20.—There was a quieter tone to the trading on the Stock Exchange this morning and prices generally were fairly well held during the first hour. The range of fluctuations in the most important railroad stocks was less than 1 per cent. In the industrial group smelting was the most prominent and sustained extreme loss, during the first hour, falling 95 as against 91 at the close yesterday. The changes in other industrials were of only small fractions.

At midday the market on the rally became quiter, and in the last half hour prices receded from ¼ to 1 per cent. from the best figures. Dealings were entirely professional.

The Two-Cent Rate Case.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—Owing to the absence of Senator John W. Daniels there was no argument today in the U. S. Circuit Court on the two cent passenger rate case. Judge Pritchard announced that he would enter final decree November 30.

Plot Discovered.

Vienna, Nov. 20.—A conspiracy to blow up the Montenegrin Skupshtina, or National Assembly, murder Prince Nicholas, his family and ministers, seize the Montenegrin government and form a union of all Servian-speaking countries, has been discovered, according to dispatches from Cettinje, the capital of Montenegro.

More than 150 arrests have been made. Implicated in the plot, according to almost conclusive evidence in the authorities' possession, are former Premier Radovic and some of the most influential men in Montenegro, several of them relatives of Prince Nicholas.

The plot was exposed through the arrest of a leader, a Montenegrin of noble family named Rajkovic, who, with a companion, was crossing the border on his return from Servia.

Documents relating to the conspiracy were found by customs inspectors. Among them were letters warning personal friends not to attend sittings of the Skupshtina.

Rajkovic has made a confession, revealing details of the plan and including a complete list of those concerned, together with the parts they were to play and the plans for the future.

Political conditions in Servia have been so unstable since Alexander's assassination that threats of an outbreak are regarded as serious.

Effects of Financial Stringency.

Boston, Nov. 20.—Reports of further curtailment in the manufacturing centers due to the financial stringency continue to arrive from all parts of New England. The trouble affects chiefly the woolen, shoe, jewelry and rubber trades.

Cotton mills are also curtailing production to some extent.

The Spencer Woolen Mills and Huguenot Woolen Mills, of North Oxford, owned by the Thayer Woolen Company, have shut down portions of their plants, laying off several hundred hands.

The United States Rubber Company's mills in Woonsocket, Millville and Malden will be closed Saturday for a month. More than 5,000 persons will be idle.

The Ettrick Carpet Yarn Mills, of Auburn, went on a schedule of three days a week yesterday. The Namquit Textile Mills, of Bristol, R. I., have reduced running time to 48 hours weekly.

A 40-hour schedule has been adopted by the United Shirt Collar Company's factory at Fairhaven, Vt.

The Rochester, N. H., Woolen Mills have shut down entirely and several shoe factories there and in Dover, N. H., are either closed or running on reduced time.

Killed Husband and Shot Herself.

New York, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Lottie Hitchcock shot her husband, Robert, dead, as he slept today, then inflicted wounds on herself from which she is dying. She was prompted by neighbors' stories to her husband that she had been seen with other men. "I will show you tomorrow," she said, when her husband mentioned the matter to her last night, "that I am not the woman gossips say I am." Arising before Hitchcock was awake she took a revolver from the dresser, crawled to her husband's side on her knees, shot him twice through the heart, reloaded the weapon and fired three bullets into her left side and a fourth into her head. Neighbors, alarmed by the shots, broke in. Hitchcock had died without awakening. His wife was taken to a hospital where the doctors say she can live but a short time. Hitchcock ran a printing office.

To Fight Prohibitionists.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 20.—Mobile anti-prohibitionists were not joking when they threatened to secede from Alabama if the legislature voted the State dry. A large majority of the city's voters oppose prohibition. They will form a regular organization at once to employ counsel and provide funds. Attorneys have already been consulted informally, and a plan has been outlined by which the city believes it will be able to cut itself loose from State control.

Strike Troubles in India.

Calcutta, Nov. 20.—Violence is beginning to mark the strikes on the Indian railroads. The authorities have been compelled to use force in putting down riotous demonstrations at several points. At Asansol 6,000 passengers are stranded, and at other railroad centers the situation is nearly as bad. The danger that conflicts with native strikers may lead to a racial warfare, much uneasiness is felt.

Train Derailed.

Poraville, Ga., Nov. 20.—Wreckers derailed north bound mail No. 36 on the Southern Railway here today by throwing it into an open switch. The locomotive and express car were demolished, Engineer Askew was seriously injured. No passengers were hurt. The motive for the train wrecking is unknown.

KILLED BY BLACK HAND.

The Black Hand Monday gave its answer to the declaration of war from the Mano Blanco, or White Hand, formed to exterminate the Italian blackmailers who have been terrorizing their countrymen in Chicago. While a committee of influential Italians were preparing to raise a fund of $50,000, with which to fight and stamp out the blackmailers, Mariano Scardina, a young Italian, who left Buffalo a few days ago on account of trouble with a secret society there, was stabbed to death in his father's saloon.

Shortly before the death of Scardina, Max Friend, a wealthy wholesale liquor dealer, received a third warning from the Black Hand that unless he paid $250 within 24 hours he would be killed and his home dynamited. Mr. Friend had received two warnings before, but had disregarded them. On Monday night he remained at his home with a revolver within reach ready to meet any member of the society who might attempt to carry out their threat.

SOUTHERN TRAINS CRASH.

Southbound Southern Railway train No. 15 and No. 10, north bound, collided at the southern end of the new terminal tunnel in southwest Washington about 5:30 o'clock yesterday evening. A number of people were more or less hurt. The injured were removed to the Providence, Casualty, and Emergency hospitals.

The engine attached to the southbound train had just emerged from the mouth of the tunnel. Both engines and their tenders were completely wrecked, and one of the coaches of the northbound train was derailed. The track was torn up for some distance.

There was great excitement among the passengers on the cars, especially those of the southbound train which was in the tunnel in darkness.

Train No. 15 was bound for Charlottesville, while No. 10 was due at the new station from Danville, at 5:35 o'clock. Just as the former emerged from the south terminal it ran head-on into the locomotive drawing train No. 10 coming in from the South. The incoming train had been stopped several hundred yards from the mouth of the tunnel and had only started, and was, therefore, running at a moderate rate of speed when the collision occurred. It was this fact alone which prevented a more disastrous catastrophe.

Engineer Saunders and Fireman Mitchell of the south bound train were buried beneath the coal of their tenders, and had to be dug out. Engineer Goodwin and Fireman Garr of the north bound train who were about to leap from the cab when the crash came, were thrown into a ditch and badly bruised and cut on body and head. When finally liberated from their perilous position both Saunders and Mitchell were unconscious. Garr is believed to have been the most seriously injured, but it is thought he will recover. The majority of those injured were on the south bound train, their injuries having been sustained by being thrown from their seats against the sides of the cars and by flying glass.

In speaking of the accident, Engineer Goodwin said: "I have always used the north bound track in entering Washington, and I believe I was right in coming in on that track. I was oiling a piece of machinery, when I was suddenly startled by hearing Garr yell, 'Jump!' 'Jump!' I had climbed into the window, and was about to jump, when the crash came. I felt myself being hurled through the air, and when I struck the ground I felt a stinging pain shoot through my head. I cannot say who was responsible for the wreck, but I believe I carried out instructions."

Engineer Saunders said: "I left the station under orders to proceed along the northbound track, and I did so. If I had been told to take the other track, I would have done so. I carried out orders, and am not responsible for the affair. I did not see the Danville train until I was almost upon it, and then it was too late for me to stop. I threw back the controlling lever, but almost at the instant I laid my hand upon the handle there was a roar and a deafening crash. I did not know what had happened until I regained consciousness here at the hospital."

The accident, it is said, was due to the fact that switchmen have had no time to become familiar with the new trains.

The following are among the injured; James J. Goodwin, thirty-eight years old, 1311 King street, Alexandria, head and body injured; Wayne T. Garr, twenty-five years old, 219 Payne street, Alexandria, fireman on train 10, limbs and head injured; James S. Saunders, forty-nine years old, 1211 Prince street, Alexandria, engineer on train 15, head and shoulders injured; Rufus Mitchell, twenty-six years old, 214 south Payne street, Alexandria, firemen on train 15, head and limbs injured; Judge C. E. Nicol, slight bruise on forehead; Miss Mary E. Collhig, twenty-three years old, Casanova, Va., head and body injured; Miss Elizabeth Collhig, twenty years old, Casnova, head and body injured; R. H. Poindexter, thirty-eight years old, Clifton Station, mail clerk on train 10, limbs injured; B. F. Wright, twenty-three years old, Mindus, Va., mail clerk on same train, left leg injured; Ashby L. Malone, 42 Johnson street, Harrisonburg, Va., body and limbs injured; William L. Mullen, twenty-five years old, 1201 King street, Alexandria, Va., limbs and hands injured; Alfred Doss, of Alexandria, right arm badly hurt; Alexander Johnson, colored, thirty-five years old, Culpeper, body, limbs, and face injured; Elias Harris, colored, fifty years old, Fairfax Court House, body injured; W. L. Miller, Alexandria, face and limbs injured; Miss Maggie King, of Alexandria, nose broken; Miss Annie Germann, Alexandria, nose bruised; Charles Simpson, baggagemaster of train 15, back and side injured; R. L. Rice, Alexandria, head cut.

The schooner E. S. Johnson, from Nanticoke river, Md., has arrived with canned goods to J. Ahern & Co. and J. C. Milburn.

CONCERT.

The parish hall of St. Paul's Church was crowded to the doors last evening by an audience who thoroughly appreciated the programme rendered. The concert was an artistic success and the musical taste of all was gratified by the varied programme, from the tuneful ballad to the heavy grand opera selection. The sweet tone grand piano loaned by Sanders & Stayman showed to good advantage, especially with the brilliant accompaniments of Mr. Daland. All the numbers were well received and the choir is to be congratulated on their successful entertainment. The following was the programme: Chorus, "Spring Song;" baritone solo, "A Son of the Desert Am I," Mr. Dobey; contralto solo, "Till Death," Mrs. Fowler; tenor solo, "In Thy Dreams," Mr. Maddox; baritone solo, "The Two Grenadiers," Mr. Franklin; reading, Miss Rose; soprano solo, "Villanelle," Mrs. De Dier; bass solo, "Song of Hybrias, the Cretan," Mr. Taylor; duet, "A Night Hymn at Sea," Miss Graves and Mr. Daland; soprano solo "Ocean Lullaby," Miss Rowen; tenor solo, "Celeste Aida," Mr. Mills; baritone solo, "Der Erlkoing," Mr. Daland; soprano solos, "Dawn."—"A Keepsake," Mrs. Hulfish; baritone solo, "The Clang of the Forge," "Mr. Waller; contralto solo, "The Swimmer," Miss Graves; tenor solo, "Toreador Hola," Mr. Ogden; reading, Miss Ross; aria from "Cavalleria Rusticana," Miss Smoot; sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor," Mrs. De Dier, Miss Graves, Mr. Mills, Mr. Maddox, Mr. Daland and Mr. Taylor; bass solo, "Oh, Cruel Fortune," Mr. Wirt; chorus, "The Song of the Triton." The accompanists were: Piano, Miss Steiner, Mr. Daland, and Mr. Fowler; violin, Mr. Schoeneman; cello, Miss Wieser.

FINED FIVE DOLLARS EACH,

Officers Beach and Nicholson yesterday afternoon arrested Andrew Williams and John Jeffries, two boys, charged with the larceny of copper and brass from the depot of the Southern Railway Company in this city. The youths were arraigned in the Police Court this morning, when it was shown that they had disposed of the metal to a junk dealer. They were fined $5 each. Recently a number of little boys have been arrested for disposing of brasses belonging to railroad companies. Sometimes the companies' marks are upon the plunder. There has been considerable legislation during late years looking to the regulation of the junk business. Those engaged in it are made to pay a high license and compelled to furnish to the police daily reports of their purchases. It would seem that these regulations could be so amended so as to forbid dealers from having business relations with irresponsible men and boys, especially when they offer railroad brasses for sale.

WEDDINGS.

Miss Fannie W. Johnson, of Blackstone, and Mr. Bernard B. Cline, of this city, were married this evening in the Crenshaw Methodist Episcopal Church, Blackstone, Nottoway county. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Cline will make their home in Alexandria.

Betts, father of the groom, officiating. Owing to the serious illness of the bride's uncle, Mr. Merriweather T. Carter, the wedding was attended by only the immediate families of the bride and groom. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Betts left for their home in Raleigh.

W. C. T. U.

The regular business meeting of the Allison W. C. T. U. will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Children's Home. After a short business session an unusually interesting and varied programme will berendered. All members are invited to be present, and there will be refreshments served, souvenirs given and temperance music rendered.

At 7:30 o'clock the Allison W. C. T. U. will observe Virginia State Red Letter day. The public are cordially invited to be present and enjoy the good programme which is being prepared. A collection will be taken for the benefit of State work.

ACCUSED DISMISSED.

C. S. Butler, of this city lost a gold watch and some money and clothing several weeks ago. Yesterday John Beatley was arrested in Washington with the watch in his possession. Officer Roberts conducted Beatley to this city and he was brought before the Police Court this morning. The owner of the watch did not charge Beatley with stealing the same. The accussed stated that he found the timepiece in the street about the first of October, and being unable to find the owner was about to pawn it in Washington when he was arrested. Beatley was dismissed.

Leadbeater, Wm. G. Leadbeater, Edmund C. Bell and John Agnew.

SOUTHERN BUYS ENGINES.

According to the Manufacturers' Record, the Southern Railway is in the market for 200 locomotives, for freight and passenger service. Though expenses are being cut by many of the great railway systems, the increase in traffic has made the purchase of extra equipment necessary, and the building market is active.

NOTICE —TO THE— ALEXANDRIA PUBLIC.

I have this day accepted the agency for the Patent Fin Hot Water Heater. It is now on exhibition in my store where you can inspect same. It is the most modern up-to-date Gas-heated Hot Water Radiator in the World.

When it is considered that we must depend on some method of artificially heating our homes and public places practically half the year, and that during this time our life is largely spent in doors in an artifical atmosphere and temperature, it certainly seems natural that we should use methods of heating that would not endanger health (by violating Nature's laws of physics and physiology), nor be needlessly expensive and wasteful. Yet, the fact is, a very small proportion of our homes and business places are healthfully, comfortably and economically heated.

The Patent Fin Hot Water Radiator does this or otherwise you may return it. Come in and let us explain it.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOV. 20, 1907.

Why Jimmy Didn't Sit Down.

The woman who had shopped until the closing gong had sounded stood at the transfer station and awaited the suburban trolley.

"What," she wearily asked herself, "does it profit a woman if she gain the elusive bargain and loses every trace of physical freshness?"

Presently the car came along. It had the usual crowd of humanity, and the woman resignedly prepared to stand, when a grimy youth arose and tendered her his place. Protesting faintly, she sank into it gultily and registered a vow never to shop overtime again.

In due time several seats were vacated, and the woman looked hopefully toward her knight.

"Jimmy," a friend of his was saying, "there's room inside now. Why don't you sit down?"

And the last drop of discomfort was added to the woman's cup of humiliation when Jimmy responded:

"Aw, what's the use! No sooner I'll get me legs stretched when another tired old hen will get on and I'll have to hop up!"—New York Times.

Capping Verses.

On going into the rooms of one of his friends who was absent Dr. Mansel saw on the table the opening lines of a poem in the following lofty style:

The sun's perpendicular heat
Illumined the depths of the sea.

Taking up a pen, he completed the stanza in the following witty way:

The fishes, beginning to sweat,
Cried, "Hang it, how hot we shall be!"

Dr. Watson, regius professor of divinity, had at one time been tutor of Trinity, and when he was made bishop of Llandaff an honest publican in Cambridge, who kept an inn called the Bishop Blaise, out of respect to Dr. Watson changed his sign and replaced the head of Bishop Blaise by that of Bishop Watson. This transfer drew from Mansel, who probably had some grudge against the late tutor, the following epigram:

Two of a trade can ne'er agree—
No proverb ere was juster.—
They've ta'en down Blaise, you see,
And put up Bishop Bluster.

—London Chronicle.

What Is Patriotism?

What is patriotism? Is it a narrow affection for the spot where a man was born? Are the very clods where we tread entitled to this ardent preference because they are greener? No, sir. This is not the character of the virtue, and it soars higher for its object. It is an extended self love, mingling with all the enjoyments of life and twisting itself with the minutest filaments of the heart. It is thus we obey the laws of society, because they are the laws of virtue. In their authority we see not the array of force and terror, but the venerable image of our country's honor. Every good citizen makes that honor his own and cherishes it not only as precious, but as sacred. He is willing to risk his life in its defense and is conscious that he gains protection while he gives it.—Fisher Ames.

Tears and Joy.

Under the title "Tears of Joy" George Friederici writes to a Berlin paper that the custom of "weeping and howling on all occasions of great joy was general among the early inhabitants of America" and that in many tribes visited by him in South America the approved form of welcome was still to weep. "Tears of welcome," he says, are also shed by the natives of the Caribbean islands and by the Sioux, Algonquins and other North American Indians. From all that I have seen, I judge that in times past tears and joy were inseparable and that the emotion which civilized people now display at parting was once the expression of hearty welcome."

Made It Complete.

When Labiache, the famous operatic singer, was presented to Queen Victoria her majesty, who had heard of the artist's hobby, asked if it was true that he had a large collection of snuff-boxes. He replied that it was correct. He had one for every day in the year—365.

"Nevertheless, your collection is not quite complete," was the queen's response. "Here is another for leap year."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Misjudged Turk.

The rural Turk at home, when not goaded into violence by his corrupt rulers, is the very antipodes of the monster of popular imagination in England. His domestic virtues are at least equal to those of any western population. He is honest, industrious, patient, gentle and of fine natural manners.—London Times.

Chapleigh—I say, dwuggist, can you—aw—give me something to—aw—bwighten me up, doncher know? Druggist—You're in the wrong place, young man. This is a drug store, not a night school.—Chicago News.

One Advantage.

"What do you think of this idea of having dogs for caddies?" asked the old golfer.

"It's a good idea," replied the beginner. "The dogs can't laugh at you!"—London Standard.
